How to Use This Guide

This guide is intended to provide Leaders, Units, Soldiers, and Families an in-depth look at Army Community Service (ACS) programs and services that are available throughout the ARFORGEN cycle. Tab formatting within this guide allows easy access to the various chapters.

Chapters include:

1. What is ARFORGEN?
2. My Contacts
3. Reset & Train Phase (Reception - +180 Days)
4. Ready Phase (+180 days - LAD)
5. Available/Deployed Phase (LAD - Reception)
6. Ongoing Activities & Events
7. Child, Youth, Schools & Services (CYSS)
8. Programs & Services
9. Class Descriptions
10. T.H.R.I.V.E./Acronyms

This guide is to be used as a resource tool to help educate Soldiers and Families on the services, programs, trainings, and resources available at ACS that supports and enhances Soldier and Family Readiness. When navigating this tool use the “Programs & Services” tab, to become familiar with what is offered through the ACS programs and services. Use the “Class Descriptions” tab to learn about topics discussed in the classes offered. Use the “T.H.R.I.V.E./Acronyms” tab to learning about Fort Carson’s concept to Family & Soldier Readiness, and clarification on unfamiliar acronyms. For more information, call ACS at (719) 526-4590, or visit us at <http://community.carson.army.mil/ACS>.

What is ARFORGEN?

Army Force Generation (ARFORGEN) is the structured progression of increased unit readiness over time, resulting in recurring periods of available, trained, ready, and cohesive units for operational deployments.

Operational requirements support the prioritization and synchronization of resourcing, recruiting, organizing, manning, equipping, training, sustaining, sourcing, mobilizing, and deploying cohesive units more effectively and efficiently, by achieving a sustained, predictable timeline to generate trained and ready units.

Army units proceed through the Reset and Train, Ready, and Available force pools to meet operational requirements with increased predictability. Units in the Reset and Train force pool redeploy, receive & stabilize personnel, reset equipment, and conduct trainings. These units are not available for combat operations. Units in the Ready force pool continue mission-specific trainings and are eligible for sourcing if necessary to meet joint requirements. Units in the Available force pool are in their planned deployment windows, and are fully trained, equipped, and resourced to meet operational requirements.

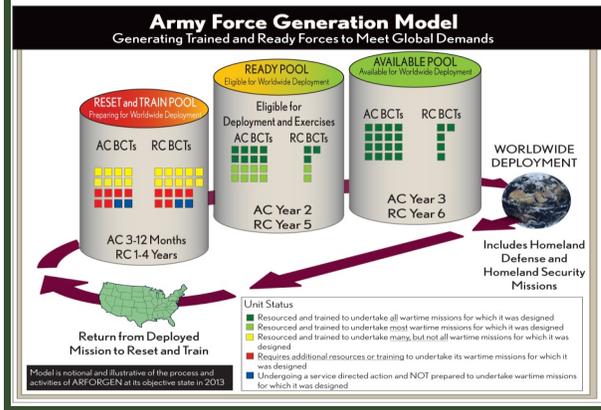

What is

The ARFORGEN tool allowed the Army to establish objectives for how forces would be built & utilized, giving Soldiers a balance between deployments and stabilization. The Army's intent is to organize, train, equip, source, mobilize, and deploy whole, cohesive units that are ready to execute their mission. ARFORGEN is not just about preparing units for deployments, it's about maintaining the quality of life and overall health of our Soldiers.

The Army Community Service ARFORGEN Based Resource Tool provides Leaders, Units, Soldiers and Families an in-depth list of Programs and Services offered at all stages of the ARFORGEN cycle.

What is T.H.R.I.V.E.?

The Webster dictionary defines thrive as: to grow strongly and vigorously, to do well, to prosper, to make steady progress, to flourish.

Fort Carson's concept to Family & Soldier Readiness is focused on the motto "Don't just Survive, T.H.R.I.V.E." Leadership is devoted to ensuring that Families and Soldiers are receiving the Programs & Services that are necessary for Successful Army Living. In doing so, leaders are putting the acronym thrive to work, by committing to provide the best Programs & Services that enhance the following areas of concern: Training, Health, Resiliency, Improved Quality of Life, Volunteer, and Education. Fort Carson Leaders know the importance of thriving in today's Army and are committed to providing those capabilities to Families and Soldiers.

"It takes but one positive thought when given a chance to survive and thrive to overpower an entire army of negative thoughts." ~Robert H. Schuller
